Talk on the study of environments was given by John Hunter. John talked about how the origin of this talk was formed in response to Pope Pius XII challenge to bring others back to Christian values. Eduardo Bonnin worked out a method and put it on paper, it was named study of environments. "We tried to think of how to reach that environment, and how to make that environment a Christian one." The Study of environments will then be the application of the understanding to know the sum and circumstances that concur in a specific time and place for the purpose of raising the knowledge and reality of Christ. Approaching others with the good news in winning the environment using a battle plan of 1.will 2.prayer 3.mind 4.heart.By studying people and groups, learning what type of person and different attitudes help us to approach our environment with the purpose of helping others find their way back to the Father.

We closed the School of Leaders with prayer.

Respectfully submitted,
John Hunter SOL Coordinator
